WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

High pressure will dominate the weather pattern through the weekend with dry conditions and gradually warming temperatures. Precipitation chances will increase the first half of next week as another storm system approaches the region.

San Francisco Weather:

Mostly sunny and warm conditions are forecast through the weekend as high pressure continues to dominate the weather across the region. The next chance of rain is not until the middle of next week.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Sacramento Weather:

Warm and dry weather will continue through the remainder of the week. A Pacific storm may bring wet and cooler weather Tuesday into Friday next week.

Hanford Weather:

Variable high clouds and mild temperatures for next couple days as a weak upper level disturbance brushes by. Sunny and warm conditions are forecasted this weekend with possible precipitation by middle of next week.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION: (Cont.)

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

A low system will move across the region through Saturday to increase the onshore flow and with local drizzle overnight. The afternoon temperatures will be below normal for the weekend and breezy winds for the mountains and deserts. A high will build in early next week for a slight warm-up. Another low may approach on Tuesday and could linger through the week.

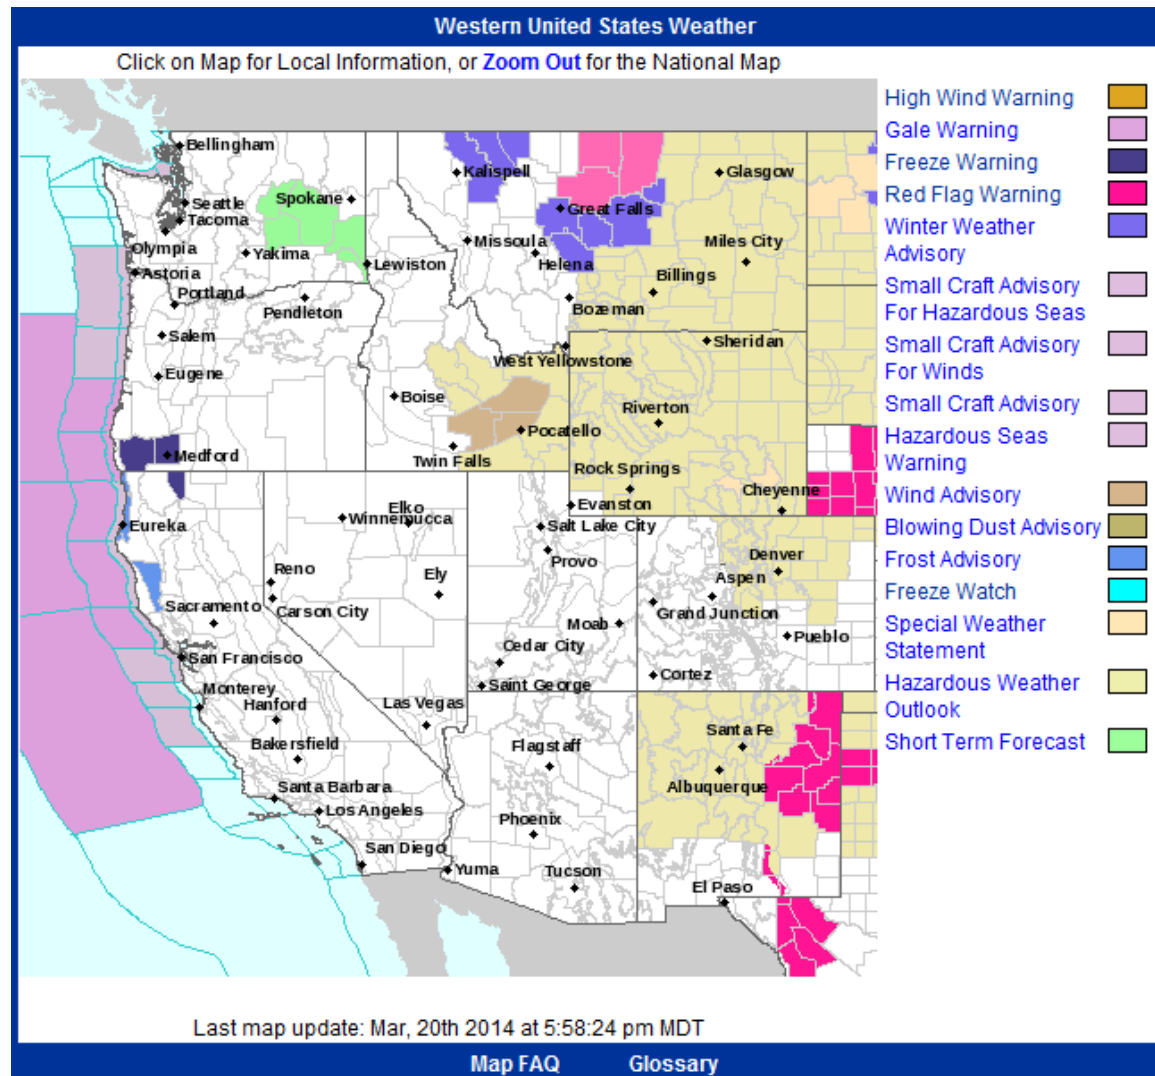

Extreme Southwestern California Including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

Fair but a little cooler is forecasted for the next several days with variable high clouds at times. Expect a deeper marine layer with more low clouds during the nights and mornings and breezy evenings in the mountains and deserts as the onshore flow strengthens. High pressure returns early next week for warmer weather Monday and Tuesday.

Southeast California Weather:

Dry weather with only periodic high cloud cover will continue through early next week. Above normal temperatures will also prevail with daily highs generally from the upper 70s to upper 80s across lower desert communities.

SIGNIFICANT EVENTS / ACTIVITY

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

Information as of 3/17/14

Situational Summary: (No Change)

On January 17, 2014 Governor Edmund G. Brown proclaimed a State of Emergency and directed state officials to take all necessary actions to prepare for drought conditions. The State Operation Center (SOC) is activated to implement objectives in support of the Governor's priorities. The lack of winter rain and snowfall has resulted in extremely dry conditions in many parts of the State. Reservoir levels are down significantly from where they should be on average for this time of year. If conditions continue without substantial rainfall, severe impacts to municipal water supplies, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities are likely in store for the State over the next few months. Negative economic impacts will also result.

Dry conditions are expected statewide through mid-week, with record high temperatures in some places. A weak pressure front will move in by the middle of the week with cooling temperatures, but little to no precipitation is expected.

Despite above average rain and snow in February and early March, much of California has received only about 50% of normal precipitation. Heavy rain and snow would have to fall throughout California very frequently from now until May to reach average annual rain and snowfall levels. Even with such precipitation, California would remain in drought conditions, due to low water supplies in reservoirs from the two previous dry years. The drought could result in severe impacts to the municipal water supplies, wells, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities for several months. The SOC continues to be activated to monitor the situation statewide, and support regional and local operational areas.

Situational Summary: (Cont.)

- The Taskforce continues to meet regularly to take actions that conserve water and coordinate state response to the drought.
- The State Water Resource Control Board (SWRCB) staff participated in the Small Systems Inter-Agency Outreach Committee meeting USDA Rural Development, California Water/Wastewater Agency Response Network and Rural Community Assistance Corporation on March 5, 2014.
- The recent snowpack survey conducted on 3/12/14, recorded California snowpack at 29% of normal. The statewide snowpack as of March 6 indicates a snow water content of 33 percent of average to date and 30 percent of the April 1 average.
- DWR has announced that water essential for health and safety will be delivered through the state water project in spite of the zero allocation policy. Deliveries will be boosted if storms produce enough rain and snow to increase reservoir storage and the snow pack.
- On March 27, 2014, SWRCB will be at the groundbreaking ceremony for the City of Visalia's $147 million Water Conservation Plant upgrade and recycled water distribution pipeline, made possible by an earlier CWA SRF loan from the State Water Board.
- Cal OES continues to gather drought-related costs from state agencies and local governments.
